RHEMTIDE RATE CARD

ABOUT RHEMTIDE

If you want something with real presence on the harbour, I'd recommend Rhemtide. She's a 76-foot pilothouse motor yacht, designed by naval architect Jack Hargrave and built by Derecktor Shipyards in the USA.

She's great for entertaining. The enclosed aft deck has its own wet bar, and the flybridge and foredeck give you plenty of room to spread out – the furniture up top can be rearranged to suit a small group or a bigger event. She takes up to 45 guests for a day catered charter or up to 47 guests BYO.

Below deck there's a master cabin and two twin cabins, each with its own ensuite. She's also fitted with Starlink and 5G, satellite TV, surround sound, and iPad-controlled systems.

I usually recommend Rhemtide for birthdays, corporate events, and relaxed days on the harbour. She has a classic look but everything on board is modern and comfortable, and the crew are attentive without getting in the way.

If you want a charter that feels like a real occasion, Rhemtide is one of the best options out there.
